be used towards the crection of a new building, says Carlon E. Wheeler, sujection of the public schools of the town of Montville, in his annual report. It is desired that the town take action as soon as it is feasible, continues Mr. Wheeler.

A summary of the school report is as follows:

Sixteen teachers have been employ-lege, 1. Experience: Number of teachers

$62.70. state of Connecticut $61.75. Groton $50.91.

1918: East Lyme $54.75. Montville $50.90. Waterford $50.56.

From the figures above it may be noted that more than half of the teachers were specially trained for their work before beginning to teach. The remaining seven have been aided in their work by attending the state summer school and the local teachers' meetings. The fact that the majority summer school and the local teachers' meetings. The fact that the majority of the teachers have had so little experience and that so many new teachers are needed yearly emphasizes the importance of the work of the town school committee and supervisor in relation to the teaching force. Reference to the wage scale shows the standing of Montville in relation to surrounding towns and the state as a whole. It also shows that during the last eight years the salaries have increased, but that the average wage for this coming year will equal that of Groton for last year and will be $3.61 less than the average in the state eight less than the average in the state eight years ago. A town that pavs less wages than the larger surrounding cen-

It is always a pleasure to report the names of pupils who have been perfect in attendance during the year. Twenty pupils have had perfect attendance and will receive certificates signed by the governor and the secretary of the state board of education. Three pupils have been perfect in attendance for four years or more.

Savings Deposits Have Increased. More than twice as much money has been deposited this year as last year. This is very encouraging. The silver cup which was held last year by the Chesterfield school has been won and will be permanently held by the Black Point school in East Lyme. The basis of the award was the ave-rage amount deposited per pupil reg-istered, multiplied by the ratio of the number of pupils who deposited as much as the average amount, to the whole number of pupils. The second place was obtained by the Flanders school of East Lyme, and the third place by the Jordan school of Waterford.
